

January 26, 2010

PINC: THE FOUNTAIN OF CREATIVE INSPIRATION FED BY INCREDIBLY REALISTIC DREAMS

The PINC Conference is a unique opportunity to recharge your personal and business batteries. PINC is a delight for people who want to stimulate their minds and senses. The conference not only attracts corporate decision-makers, but also scientists, doctors, academics and artists, who seek inspiration in the fascinating ideas of sixteen superb speakers, most of whom have the world as their platform. PINC.11 will take place on May 18, 2010, in Zeist.

PINC – People, Ideas, Nature, Creativity

Every year, Peter van Lindonk and his partners Nelleke van Lindonk and Ingrid Bakker organize a truly unique conference featuring sixteen personalities who are passionate about their respective disciplines, who each pursue their own incredibly realistic dream. PINC is not about giving crash courses in vascular surgery or communication technology or internet security, it is about stimulating the audience to consider novel perspectives and rethink their actions. This festive kaleidoscope of ingenious thinkers and actors, who each get 20 minutes to share their ingenuity, is interspersed with brief, highly original performances.

The beginning

Having attended various conferences at home and abroad, Peter van Lindonk, director of PINC, wanted to organize a conference of his own. He wanted creativity and passion, rather than a common topic or vocation, to be the driving force behind the event. PINC was to become a platform for speakers with a vision or dream. Van Lindonk had no idea where to begin, so he simply followed his creative instincts and organized a highly successful first conference in 1999. Since then PINC has brought together new speakers with an authentic vision time and time again, attracting 500 visitors to the PINC Conference each year.

Speakers on May 18, 2010

Among the speakers at PINC.11 will be David Schatz from the United States. He is an expert in the field of wireless electricity and will demonstrate the unbelievable potential of this innovation. Swiss game designer Ulrich Götz talks about his cooperation with the children's hospital in Zurich. Lorie Karnath (USA) is president of The Explorers Club, which promotes land, sea and space research. The American Dan Meyer won the Ig Nobel Prize for Medicine for his research into the physiological effects of sword swallowing. For a full rundown of this year's speakers, please visit http://www.pinc.nl/coming_speakers.php

Information

Venue:	Figi, Zeist
Date:	May 18, 2010, 09.00-21.00 hrs
Price:	€ 975 ex. VAT, including breakfast, lunch and a delicious buffet dinner
Dress code:	Casual

Note to editors: For further information, photos and interviews, please contact Communicatiebureau De Kippen at +31 (0)35 632 1155 or info@dekippen.nl